Bethel Ridge, "State Of Casey."

Leaving McKinney on the noon train South, over the Q. & C. route, we sped rapidly over the 14 miles intervening between that place and the booming little city of Eubanks, located partly in Lincoln and partly in Pulaski counties. On alighting from the train, about the first man to grasp our hand was that prince of R. R. agents and best of all the "boys," J. C. Good, who held the office of freight and express agent in his town for more than 20 years. The old C. S. management couldn't do without him and the Queen & Crescent finds him indispensable. The only trifling thing about Good is his occasional yielding to an inclination to write for the newspapers, but his letters are always full of interest and we think the I. J. would do well to solicit them. There is no mistake about Eubanks' reported boom. She's getting there sure. New stores, new dwellings, new barns, new fences and not the least to be considered, some graves. One of the fixtures of the town, like our friend Good, is T. W. Donley. He conducts the business of a general store and looks almost as young as he did when we first knew him as an export of Illinois nearly a hundred years ago. Tom has been successful in business and Eubanks will miss him when he dies, for I suppose he will sometime. But how about it, "when the roll is called up yonder" Tommy?

Taylor Wesley was busy in his new store and customers were leaving with baskets full of bargain goods and smiles on their faces that would knock the molasses out of a ginger cake 20 feet away. There were lady customers and the smiles were intended for Mr. Wesley, who is a handsome young man of less than 20 summers.

Mr. F. Wilder, the efficient postmaster and all-around merchant, was busy but accommodating, and has our thanks for attentions.

Other merchants seemed not wanting in trade, while the new hotel kept by Mr. Apple, late of Casey county, was enjoying a liberal patronage. Mr. Silas Wesley, the Bethel Ridge merchant and postmaster, has recently erected a large and expensive building on his lot just east of the depot and is supplying it with provender, fertilizer, etc., for the accommodation of his trade in that section. From the number of new homes up and going up, and the great amount of lumber stacked in the town, we would suppose the saw mill men are doing an immense business in and about Eubanks. Millions of feet of lumber are stacked there and anything from a trap stick to a bill covering the material for a complete palace can be supplied in the town. To mention all the evidences of improvement in the thriving little city would require quite a lengthy letter, but we can say with all its force of meaning, her enterprise is commendable and worthy of imitation.

We said something about some new graves in her quiet city of the dead. Yes, they are there, some short ones, some long ones. Childhood, youth and old age all rest there. We lost one whose sleeping clay was deposited there. Rufus Morgan, a young gentleman, whose life was cut short in the very bloom of manhood. His interment took place only a few days ago and the living went away to their homes over which sorrows like this must one day hover.

Leaving Eubanks at 2:20 p. m. behind Silas Wesley's fine span of grays, regular roadsters, driven by Willie Godby, who holds the reins like a regular "Jehu," and talks like a barber, we soon covered nine miles stretching out between Eubanks and Bethel Ridge, dismounting here sound and refreshed by the ride. Once only before had we been here, but the acquaintances formed there have in part, refined into very warm friendship and of course we were very glad to meet these friends again. We are now the guest of Postmaster Silas Wesley, than whom we have not known a better man. He has a most excellent family, one of whom, Miss Kate, we very much regret, is down with typhoid fever and a throat trouble, to make her illness the more severe. At this writing, her symptoms are considered a little more favorable than they were some days ago. Another case of this dreaded disease is that of John A. Wali, a young man of this neighborhood, who is dangerously ill. J. D. Watson's child died of brain fever near here Friday. J. Saunders' boy was bitten badly by a dog and Dr. Wesley was telephoned for Friday night. The family lives nearer Middleburg than here.

Owing to sickness of the teacher first employed to instruct the public school here, the session was interrupted and did not close until the 8th. The pupils got but five days' rest. Mr. E. W. Martin, of Norwood, opened a select school of 40 pupils Monday morning, 14th. He taught three days, got sick and returned home, leaving Bishop Wesley in charge. It is hoped he will be able to resume his duties again next week.

The enterprising citizens of this section, and some of Somerset, have wisely decided to put themselves in direct communication with each other, and now have the necessary stock subscribed, and a meeting at Ansel on Tuesday, was held to shape the business for the immediate stringing of the wires and placing the 'phones.

Mr. H. L. Wesley and family have moved here from Joyce and will farm in the community. B. W. Wesley has gone to Missouri with a view to locating there. L. P. Deboard has accepted a clerkship at Science Hill and went on duty last week. Of the commercial men calling here this week we note Hert, Lucky, Sweeney and Cornellson. This class of travelers find accommodation at the home of Mr. Silas Wesley, the leading merchant here. He doesn't own a hotel but has had experience as a landlord, just the same. You see above that he got Hert one day, but his guest was Lucky the next.

This county is swarming with candidates, seeking favor at the coming primary election. Although this is called a "stick" country, we have not had one to shake at every office seeker we have met. We find them very much interested in the "dear people" and confident of election. Hon. Henry Taylor was here this week feeling the pulse of Bethel Ridge voters with a view to offering his services in a public capacity again.

Mrs. Alice Moffett, of O'Hara, who has been visiting friends and relatives here, left for her home Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Ashley have been visiting at Yosemite. Mrs. Joshua Taylor, of Ansel, was visiting here Friday as was also Mrs. Laura Reed, of Mt. Olive. The leading event socially this week, was the marriage of Mr. Virgil Godby to Miss Etta Trusty, two prominent young people of this section. Rev. L. R. Godby officiated. A reception was given at the groom's father's, Mr. Percy Godby, when a large crowd partook of a delicious supper and spent an evening of profound pleasure. These young people are launched upon the matrimonial sea with the best wishes of a host of friends.

Rev. L. R. Godby preached an excellent sermon here Sunday, and is capable of doing the same thing 52 Sundays a year. W. R. GOOCH.

QUEEN VICTORIA DEAD.

QUEEN VICTORIA, after a remarkable fight for life, is no more and England is in gloom over the death of the grand and good woman. The end came Tuesday evening and her son, the Prince of Wales, immediately became king under the title of Edward VII. If he shall prove a worthy successor to his noble mother, then indeed will England be fortunate. He has been, to express it in slang, "a horse in his day," but his crop of wild oats is harvested and there is no reason that he should not settle down to a reign of honor to himself and glory to his subjects.

Upon receipt of the news at Washington, President McKinley dispatched a message of condolence. Secretary of State Hay sent a similar message to be conveyed through Ambassador Choate. The flag on the Executive Mansion was at half mast—an unusual proceeding—and the House and Senate adopted suitable resolutions. Many Legislatures in session took cognizance of the queen's death.

W. J. Bryan says of her death: The death of Queen Victoria will be regretted in all lands. Her personal virtues won for her the love of her subjects and the respect of the world. Her successor will find it difficult to fill her place in public esteem.

Born, May 24, 1819. Crowned, June 28, 1838. Wedded to her cousin, Prince Albert of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, 1840. Saturday she lived 81 years and 209 days, one day longer than any English sovereign. Her fatal illness dates from the time Lord Roberts informed her that the Boer war could not terminate soon. Queen Victoria was four feet eleven inches tall and absolutely refused to confess her weight. She had nine children seven of whom are living. The queen receives $1,925,000 per annum. She had four royal residences—Buckingham, Windsor, Osborne and Balmoral, in Scotland, the latter being her favorite. She had been a widow for thirty-six years, during which time she had never worn colors or danced, except once. Until recent years she arose every morning at 7 o'clock. She always breakfasted privately but her dinners were ceremonial in character. Queen Victoria bore a charmed life. Twice during her childhood she escaped death almost by a miracle, and no less than five attempts were made on her life by assassins, none of whom succeeded in inflicting bodily injury. Victoria chose for herself a husband in good Prince Albert, who had little to recommend him besides his fine looks and untainted blood. The match was not altogether satisfactory to the advisers of the throne, but the young queen had a mind of her own and had her way. Beginning in poverty, through the thrift of her husband, and despite the prodigality of her eldest son, she had by strict economy accumulated a fortune of $50,000,000, which includes castles, country and town houses and much real estate. The lady owned more than a hundred lots in the city of New York. She is the first English sovereign who has been free from debt throughout her reign. It is said that she saved money on her civil list, which amounts to $3,000,000. She was Presbyterian in Scotland and an Episcopalian in England, while on the Continent she occasionally attended service at Catholic churches. Taken altogether, Victoria was the ideal English girl, the model English wife and the adored English mother. The fondest term she applied to herself was that of "Mother of my people."

Nothing that has ever been said of the dead queen surpasses the beauty of Tennyson's dedication written in 1851. In which he prayed: My children of our children say, "She wrought her people lasting good; Her court was pure; her life serene; God gave her peace; her land reposed; A thousand claims to reverence closed In her as Mother, Wife and Queen."

And statesmen of her council met Who knew the seasons when to take Occasion by the hand, and make The bounds of freedom wider yet. By shaping some august decree, Which kept her thrones unshaken still Broad-based upon her people's will, And compassed by the inviolate sea.

ALL things come to him who waits. Senator Mason, when appointed on the important committee of postoffices and post roads, was fifth on the list of members, but the mutations of politics have brought him to the chairmanship. Senator Wolcott, chairman, is to be succeeded by Mason; Chandler and Carter also retire to private life and Gear is dead.

THE Bowling Green Times Journal is the most enterprising paper in the State. It published the news of Queen Victoria's death just 30 hours before its occurrence. Dr. Woods is getting a move on himself in his old age.

HARRISON county democrats imitated those in Lincoln county by calling a primary for March 16.

Gen. John P. Shanks, who served 10 years in Congress from Indiana, is dead.

DIVORCES seem to be easy in Indiana. The report of the board of statistics contains some startling figures in the matter of divorces. For the year ending Oct. 31, it seems there were 27,671 marriages in that State and 4,699 divorces granted. It is estimated that there were 2,000 additional applications for divorce, which were either withdrawn, or for some reason, not granted. The figures show, however, that there was about one divorce for every six marriages. Uniform divorce laws, limited to Biblical causes, should be adopted and all of the churches should follow the lead of the Episcopal church to restrain or reduce the evils of lax divorce laws, which so easily put asunder those who assume the marriage tie for unworthy reasons and without proper consideration of the solemn responsibility of it.

THE petition to Congress in which 2,000 Filipinos have embodied their request for self-government is a unique document. It is in the shape of a leather-bound book, which contains a type-written translation in English, then the appeal itself printed in Spanish, with the signatures following. Each signature occupies two or more lines on the ruled paper and is embellished with intricate flourishes, without which, apparently, a Spanish signature is not valid.

Gov. McMillin was inaugurated in the House of Representatives at Nashville Tuesday and read a message in which he took strong grounds against trusts.

The row between the Bradley and Deboe factions over which side shall retain the campaign record promises to be productive of much bitterness. Combs has not yet turned over the records.

The congressional committee which has been investigating hazing at West Point will recommend the enactment of a statute against hazing, providing for the expulsion of cadets found guilty of the offense, and debarment from reappointment or from holding commissions in the army.

Robert J. Gamble was elected United States Senator in South Dakota; J. W. Bailey in Texas; F. M. Simmons in North Carolina; J. R. Burton in Kansas. Senator James M. Berry was re-elected in Arkansas and Shelby M. Culbom in Illinois. The deadlocks in Nebraska and Delaware are still unbroken.

The new State Board of Equalization named by Gov. Beckham, is composed of William T. Walker, of Clinton; Ben D. Ringo, of Hartford; George L. Willis, of Shelbyville; William A. Eubanks, of Louisville; M. J. Meagher, of Frankfort; Z. Taylor Young, of Morehead, and John W. Barber, of Sandy Hook.

$1 PER YEAR CASH

Entered in the post-office at Stanford as second-class matter.

BRODHEAD.

Thomas Francisco and Richard Pike have been trading horses and mules this week.

It is conceded by all our people that Bud Tharpe is one of the best young men of our town.

The Rockcastle Fair Association will meet on the night of Feb. 2 to elect officers for this year. All the stockholders are expected to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Ora J. Durham, the widow of the late John R. Durham, has been successful in getting her pension of $8 per month for herself and $2 per month for each of her four children, under 16 years old, from Jan. 28, 1898, to January, 1901, and it was a God-send to the poor widow.

Hamilton Colyer, who has been confined to his room for a week, is out again. Rev. A. J. Pike went to his Gilead church in Madison county last Saturday and returned Monday. Frank Adams, of Oak Hill neighborhood, was in town Wednesday. A. J. Pike went to Mt. Vernon Thursday on business. S. W. Davis, of Mt. Vernon, the great saddle and harness man, was in Brodhead Tuesday.

Mr. George Ponder, of North Carolina, who married Miss Florence Winkler a few days ago, left for the groom's home this week, leaving the old father without a housekeeper. Mrs. W. G. Tharp, who has been on the sick list for some months, is no better at this writing. J. G. Frith is in Mt. Vernon again this week. Rev. George Hendrickson has not returned from Indiana yet. Mrs. W. R. Wallin has been pleased with having her mother of Crab Orchard as a guest for a few days.

If any one doubts that Brodhead is a thriving little town, if they will call and spend a few days with us, it will remove all doubt. We have eight stores, all suspiciously run by gentlemen of the highest type of manhood, such men as J. H. Dunn, who emerged from Boyle county a few years ago and one of Boyle's brightest and most energetic sons; and J. Thomas Cherry, who has done more business in the last few years than almost any man that we have knowledge of; W. H. Sowder, who is the business manager of the old, reliable firm of Martin & Perkins, Martin & Protheroe, &c. Mr. Sowder has not been in business in our town for a great while, but he is pulling things his own way. We could go on and speak of all our mercantile men as enterprising business men. You can buy goods at smaller profits in Brodhead than any town on the L. & N. Then comes our professional men. We have five physicians, such men as Benton, Gravely, Burdette, &c. We have three churches, viz: Baptist, Christian and Methodist; all with good pastors. You can hear the sound of the blacksmith hammer at four shops and if you should hear them all at once you would think you were in the city standing by a great iron foundry. And when the ladies of this and of the adjoining counties wish to have fine wedding dresses made, or first-class millinery work done, they can call on our milliner and dress maker, Mrs. Mary Colyer, who will warrant perfect satisfaction. We can not afford to refer to all our business, enterprising people by name or profession, but we must refer to our anticipated new railroad, for we understand that it is now conceded in railroad circles that the Southern railroad will come by way of Brodhead and that the junction will be at this place and we have recently been informed that inside of two years we can and will hear the sound of an engine whistle. One of our citizens, Mr. J. G. Frith, has become enthusiastic over the bright prospect of the new road and has advanced all the real estate about 50 per cent, and he has been acting under oath, for he has been serving on the board of supervisors for the last week. So you can see that our town is on the boom.

BEAT OUT OF AN INCREASE OF HIS PENSION.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes: "Seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48, I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal dose of it restores me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by Craig & Hocker.

Seven shoemakers, workers on the bench, sat in congress during the first century of our government—Roger Sherman, Henry Wilson, (afterwards vice-president), Gideon Lee, William Graham, John Haller, H. P. Baldwin and Daniel Sheffer.

A lame shoulder is usually caused by rheumatism of the muscles, and may be cured by a few applications of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. For sale by Craig & Hocker, Druggists.

KINGSVILLE.

Ed McCarty and Will Hart are making preparations to go to Oklahoma to locate.

Rev. J. L. Allen, of Danville, filled his appointment at the Christian church Sunday morning and evening and extended services a few days, to the delight of his hearers. He returned to Danville Wednesday and will come back here to preach the third Sunday in February.

Your correspondent is one of the many grip sufferers, but she has about reached the stage of convalescence. Mrs. D. M. Creighton is confined to her room with grip. Misses Gertrude Pennybacker and Elizabeth McFarland are visiting Mrs. D. P. Dinesen at Somerset and will go thence to Lexington to visit relatives. Mrs. Wallace Walter and sister, Miss Edie Carey, visited relatives in Stanford last week. Jesse Walter, of Stanford, has been visiting his brothers here. C. M. Pennington and John D. Potts, of Lexington, were the guests of Mrs. B. C. Pennybacker Sunday. E. L. Condon, of Harriman, Tenn., has returned home after a brief visit to Miss Elizabeth McFarland. Jerry Ragan, of Ludlow, was a guest at Hotel Pennybacker Sunday. D. M. Creighton continues ill with the grip. Ed McCarty and Steve Reynolds are also victims of la grippe. J. Everard Creighton is quite ill with symptoms of pneumonia fever. Mrs. Mary Flint, of Danville, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Sam Flint, last week. Manfred Chevrolet, the clever and efficient clerk at S. C. McCarty's, is visiting relatives at Burnside.

MT. SALEM.

We notice in the last issue of the INTERIOR JOURNAL an account of the burning of Mr. Fort Sims' barn. While in part the report is true, yet not half of the awful calamity was told. In the first place Mr. Sims is a clever, peaceful farmer doing well down here and is generally liked by all, but it seems that some one had some little grudge against him, as there is no doubt but that the barn was set on fire by some person by placing a lighted match to the hay loft. The writer was an eye witness to the horrible scene of the burning of the building and stock, the loss of which is fully $1,500. Mr. Sims has no feed left. A few friends have given him some corn. He is unable to work, having been crippled up three times during the last six months, the last occurring a few days since when he fell from the barn loft to the driveway, almost killing him. He is now in a crippled condition and it is to be hoped that friends will assist him in this time when a little help will be gladly received and appreciated.

G. A. RICHARDS.

HOW'S THIS? We offer One Hundred Dollars Reward for any case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure.

J. F. CHEENEY & CO., Props., Toledo, O. We, the undersigned, have known F. J. Cheney for the last 15 years and believe him perfectly honorable in all business transactions and financially able to carry out any obligation made by their firm.
